Popular group Sonido Majico together again

El Grupo Sonido Majico is reunited and ready to play at local festivals, weddings and birthday parties. They announced the end to their retirement on the local radio show "The Latin Breeze" during Viernes Loco (Crazy Friday) hosted by DJ Lupita and DJ Paco.

Emmanuel Puente told the audience that after four years of retirement they were back with most of the original musicians. When asked why they reunited, he said people were always coming up to him or the other former members and asking when they were getting back together. With the backing from Betin Zamora they bought new equipment and are ready to pick up where they left off.

Their loyal following quickly began calling 107.1 LPFM The Breeze to tell them how happy they were to hear they reunited. They had a large loyal following as was evident on Latino Night during the then popular Shrimpfest. The fans liked their music so much that during the last Shrimpfest, "The Lonely Boys" had to cut their show by thirty minutes because the crowd wanted to dance to Majico not the Grammy Award winners. More beer was sold on Latino Night than other nights of Shrimpfest. When Lupita asked why they picked the Latin Breeze show to announce they were back, the band members knew that KSAP the Breeze was the place for local groups to be noticed especially since it streams all over the world on www.ksapthebreeze.org.

Let the Magic (Majico) roll raza.
