

Tax time just got easier

Tax returns: more complicated than you think

What is the difference between refundable tax credits and non-refundable tax credits? What are the eligible deductions for self-employed workers? It isn't always easy to answer all these questions and to know all the programs and deductions.

TAX CREDITS

Every year thousands of dollars are lost by taxpayers through their ignorance of the system. Never rely on the government to tell you your rights as far as tax credits are concerned; this is your responsibility, wherein lies the importance of knowing basic tax law.

CONSULT AN EXPERT

The part of the tax system involving personal income tax is becoming increasingly complex and includes many special features, hence the attraction of working with a specialist in this area. When the time comes to consult a professional, visit one of the consultants below for all the benefits available.
