The Cleburne Public Library will host a spring book and baked goods sale Saturday, librarian Tina Williams said.

The sale will start at 10 a.m. and end at 5 p.m. at the library.

The books for sale have been donated to the library or deleted from the library's collection, Williams said.

"We're still accepting donations for the sale," she said. "We'll take donations up until the day before the sale. In addition to books, we also accept audio, CDs, DVDs and videos."

Prices for paperback books start at 50 cents.

Prices for hardback books start at $1, Williams said.

The library will also sell lunches of sub sandwiches, drinks and chips for $5.

The baked goods for sale will include many kinds of desserts, which will cost about 50 cents each, Williams said.

All proceeds benefit the library.
