Spreading it out

Spreading it out and keeping all the returning players healthy and on the field should be the key for the Lindsay Leopards during the 2008 season.

The Leopards are looking to use a wide open offensive attack to help them get over the hump after a 5-5 record last year.

But the health of his large number of players returning for another season appears to be the most important thing on the mind of coach Tommy Ferguson.

"We have good numbers. Most of our team is returning," Ferguson said.

"The attitude of the team is good, and we have a big senior class with good leadership.

"But we must stay healthy. That is really big for us because of injuries we have had in the past."

When the Leopards take the field their offense will go at it from a spread formation.

Anchoring that attack will be a trio of offensive linemen up front.

Described by Ferguson as good, strong linemen for the offense are seniors Jesi Millsap, listed at 6-foot 1-inch and 235 pounds, Ben Garner (6-1, 225) and Kurtis Barnes (5-11, 260).

"These are strong kids with a good attitude," he said.

Millsap and Barnes are also a key for a Lindsay defense looking to "stack" up the opposition.

The two seniors are slotted to take the inside linebacker spots as Millsap led the team in tackles last year with 113.

They should be joined by outside linebacker Barry Cramton, a 5-8, 175-pound senior also described by his coach as "tough."

A senior with good speed is Dakota Nelson (5-9, 175), who is penciled in to play defensive end.

Speed appears to be in good supply at the cornerback positions as well with senior Jordan Lukens (6-2, 175) and junior Stephon Bradley (5-8, 160).

Lukens is also expected to use his size to help the Leopard offense as a receiver.

Ferguson sees the favorites in the Leopards' district as Washington, Bridge Creek and Hobart.

"If we stay healthy we should be in the mix," he said.

"There are some awfully good teams in our district so we will have to be on top of our game."
